WASHINGTON

[Special to the Cincinnati Gazette.] European Interference in American Affairs—An Ordinance Commission—Postal Cards, etc.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—In addition to the facts telegraphed last night in regard to interviews between the President and delegates from one of the Central American States, it appears that another very important matter besides the one named was brought to the attention of the President. The statement was made to him that the English government, which has certain concessions upon the coast in cutting timber, had for some time past exceeded all rightful limits and was encroaching largely upon the rights of the local government.

The President was informed that one object of the delegation in stopping here on the way to England to protest against these encroachments was to ascertain whether the United States would be disposed to tolerate such interference in case it became marked, or whether they would be governed by the Monroe doctrine. The President, in reply, gave the delegation to understand that the United States would look with strong disfavor upon interference by European powers with the affairs of the nations on this continent to the south of us.

Commissioners have been selected by the Ordinance Bureau of the War and Navy departments to go abroad for the purpose of inspecting all improvements in ordnance, and especially in heavy guns. This will be the first commission of the kind ever sent from this branch of the navy, and only one from the War Department for over 50 years.

The Postmaster-General will to-morrow consider the question whether the White Star Line has forfeited its right to the contract for carrying mails. Edward S. Pierre-pont appears as attorney for this line. Both the Bremen and Inman lines are applicants for the service, and will appear by counsel.
Continued complaints come from all quarters in regard to the quality of the postal cards. The Postoffice Department has ordered a full investigation, extending to the mills furnishing the paper. This will probably cause a delay of several weeks, but is much shorter than would be involved in going through the forms of reletting.

[Special to the Cincinnati Enquirer.] WASHINGTON, June 4.—Senator Windom, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Transportation, is in Washington, and closely occupied with the work of the committee. He will leave about Wednesday next to attend certain investigations. Mr. Windom does not expect that the committee will be called together until about the last of August, when they will meet in this city or New York, and will, during the month of September, visit the Niagara ship canal route, the line of the James River and Kanawha Canal, and other proposed water lines. Mr. Gorman, representing the Chesapeake and Ohio canal, called upon Mr. Windom to-day to present a statement of the route, with reference to the application for government aid in its extension.

It is stated the reason why the steamer Frolic, with the survivors of the Polaris, has been ordered to Washington is to have them cross examined before they can communicate with other parties. It is believed that the death of Captain Hall was the result of a mutiny, and that the parties concerned are liable to the United States laws for any crime committed by them. It is reported to-night that a board of naval officers will be constituted to make this examination.
Mr. Delano is understood to be still maneuvering after the Treasury Department.
His chances of success are not considered very brilliant.

The National Republican advocates the paying Mrs. Lee a fair and proper compensation for Arlington. It says that Arlington was purchased at a tax sale for a mere fraction of its value under the operation of a law which is of extremely doubtful constitutional validity.
The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher has recently donated one thousand dollars to Washington and Lee University.
Major Griswold Confederate Provost Marshal at Richmond, during the war, who was seized by a Bourbon that he ran as anti-Greeley candidate for Congress in Baltimore, in opposition to General Swann and got beat, has lately been appointed by Mr. Creswell post-office agent at a salary of $1,600 and extras, with little or nothing to do.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Secretary Robeson this morning received a dispatch from Rear Admiral Wadsworth, saying that in Baltimore, in opposition to General Swann and
got beat, has lately been appointed by Mr. Creswell post-office agent at a salary of $1,600 and extras, with little or nothing to do.

The vacant United States District Attorneyship in Massachusetts.
[Special to the N. Y. Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The contest over the vacant United States District Attorneyship in Massachusetts is becoming interesting, from the fact that for the first time the strength of the Boutwell-Butler combination, by which the former was elected United States Senator over Dawes, is now being thoroughly developed.
The Boutwell-Butler clique present the name of a man for this responsible office who has only the qualification to recommend him last winter and vote for Butler at the inauguration on Butler. The protest is made against any appointment of this character; that the position is not a political one, but that it requires a professional man acknowledged skill and experience. It is regarded here that in this instance everything will have to give way to political expedience. Boutwell has joined forces with Butler, and the Administration thinks it can not afford to ignore the powerful combination, however unpalatable may be their demands.

NEW YORK CITY.

Heavy Sentence—Stokes's Case, etc.
NEW YORK, June 5.—The burglar who was found in the house of Mr. Dingess, on Clinton avenue, was placed on trial yesterday for burglary and attempted murder, was convicted and sentenced to twenty years imprisonment in the State prison on one charge and ten years on the other. He was given the full extent of the law, and Judge Moore, in passing sentence, said if it had been possible he would have sent him up for life.

The Sheriff's office was greatly agitated yesterday by reports from Albany to the effect that the Court of Appeals, before whom an argument was lately made by Mr. Tremain in the case of Edward S. Stokes, the convicted murderer of James Fisk, had decided adversely to the applicant, and had sustained the decision of the subordinate courts.

Not authenticated intelligence of the decision of the court has yet been received so far as can be ascertained, but should the decision of the court be adverse to Stokes, the sentence of death will be carried out unless Governor Dix shall interfere in his behalf.
U. S. steamer Frolic, from St. Johns, with the survivors of the Polaris, has been expected to arrive at this port for several days past. She was spoken by pilot boat Isaac Webb, No. 36, 200 miles east of New York, last Sunday, and has probably gone direct to Washington.

Five European steamers arrived in port yesterday, bringing 4,850 emigrants.
It is stated on Wall street that the Idna and Quicksilver Mining Companies have made arrangements limiting the production of quicksilver in this country for the year ending April 1, 1874, to 44,000 flasks, of which the Quicksilver is restricted to 24,000 and the Idna Company to 20,000 flasks. Each company is privileged to sell at market prices, having leave given them to sell without restriction.

KANSAS.

More Indian Outrages.
WACHETA, June 5.—Intelligence has just been received that the Osages attacked Cox's herd en route for Montana south of Caldwell while it was in charge of three men, killing and scalping them and stampeding the herd. The remainder of the man connected with the herd were in search of lost cattle when the attack was made.

Last Saturday while Messrs. Chambers, Earl and Traut were out hunting for stray-cattle on the New Ellsworth trail, and while waiting their horse at a branch of a ravine, they were suddenly attacked by fifteen Osages of the Black Lodge Tribe, and Chambers was killed, the ball entered his back just above the kidneys. Mr. Earl turned and fired upon the Indians killing one.

Traitor and Earl made narrow escapes owing to the fleetness of their horses. The Indians scalped Chambers, after which they placed a rifle to the crown of his head, and sent a ball crashing through his brain. This was done within thirty miles of the camp of a company of United States cavalry.

Mr. Chambers was formerly of St. Louis, and his mother resides there now. The Indians after committing the outrages made a forced march and got out of the reach of his friends, who pursued but were unable to overtake them, and were compelled to return and look after their cattle. They gave the body of Mr. Chambers a respectable burial.
The Indians did not rob his body, for his money and his watch were found upon him, and his gun was picked up a short distance from where he fell.

The National Congress of brewers is now in session in Cleveland.

Russia has ordered of American firms 300,000 rifles of a new model.

The President has postponed his departure for Long Branch until Friday.

The conjunction of the Mississippi Central Railroad with the Memphis and Louisville, is completed.

John Brown, of Columbus, Ohio, was run over and killed by a locomotive on the Short Line road Tuesday night.

The counsel for the Government in the Credit Mobilier suits will force action upon the suits as rapidly as possible.

The Mayor of Boston recommends that the fire department be increased and additional safeguards against fire be provided.

At the election of Directors of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company yesterday, the old officers were re-elected unanimously.

John Henry E. Hudson, of Memphis, died at noon Wednesday, of cholera morbus, having been taken at midnight. He was formerly Judge of the Criminal Court.

A row occurred Monday night at a dance house in West Waukegan, Kansas, in which two soldiers of Company A, Sixth Cavalry, and one woman, were severely wounded.

S. K. Fletcher, superintendent of the extensive saw mill of Bohne & Hayner, Alton, Illinois, was caught in the belt of the mill yesterday, and almost instantly killed.

The Massachussetts Medical Society, at its meeting yesterday, voted to expel the homoeopathic physicians, whose trial has been recently chronicled. There was one dissenting vote.

Jack Radley, engineer on the Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad, was murdered at Hernando, Mississippi, Tuesday, by J. G. Satter, Road Master, who was captured and imprisoned.

Many parts of Texas have been visited by the severest hail storms ever known, entirely destroying the growing crops. The rivers and creeks are very high, and prospects of continued hail are very promising.

At Columbus, Ohio, yesterday, the jury in the third trial of the case of John M. Marn, indicted and tried for the murder of Charles Thomas, in 1870, after being out about twelve hours, brought in a verdict of not guilty.

The latest and more complete returns from the election for Judge of the Supreme Court indicate the election of A. M. Craig, farmers' candidate, over Judge Lawrence, present Chief Justice, by a majority of probably 1,500.

The Springfield, Massachusetts, Republican, of Tuesday, announces that Hon. Henry L. Dawes will soon resign his seat in Congress to accept either a Cabinet position or a foreign mission, and says it has good authority for the announcement.

Representatives of leading insurance companies have voted to cancel policies where holders make exorbitant claims for damages for removal of goods, or present claims where the removal was not necessary, by reason of fire in a building on an adjacent lot.

The captive Models and their captors remain at Appleton's ranch. Before night Captain Jack and Schenck were ironed together, and the other warriors were placed in a small building adjoining Appleton's house, under guard. Neither Jack nor Schenck spoke a word.

The Missouri Republican has a special from Houston, Texas, which says a band of armed desperadoes surrounded the jail at Waldo, Tuesday night, and after securing the keepers of the prison and locking them up, liberated all the prisoners, a dozen in number, several of them notorious characters.

While the train containing Lent's circus and menagerie was going south of the Midland Railroad yesterday, seven cars ran off the track. The circus was damaged to the extent of $10,000. A man named White, of Belleville, was instantly killed, and it is supposed another named Robinson, of Hamilton, Ontario, was fatally injured. The animals were uninjured.

Joseph H. Fox, who shot and killed Munson Beach, his brother-in-law, in August, 1873, and who some months subsequently tried and acquitted on the ground of emotional insanity, made a murderous assault on his wife, who has been separated from him for some time, about one o'clock yesterday at St. Louis, striking her three blows on the head with a hatchet, and inflicting dangerous wounds. He is attempting the insanity dodge again.

The Secretary of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce is authority for the statement that 45,355,000 bushels of wheat, including flour, had been received at Milwaukee, Chicago and other points, up to May 31 last, from the crop of 1873 in the four great wheat producing States of the Northwest, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota, which, together with the estimated amount for food and seed in these States, leaves an available surplus still to come forward between the 1st of June and the incoming of the next harvest of 16,722,000 bushels in wheat and flour.

The Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture has furnished a very interesting tabular statement, showing the number of bushels of wheat raised in each State of the Union in each of the past twenty years.

The total estimated production of wheat in the United States in 1872 was 149,397,800 bushels, showing an increase of 19,375,000 bushels compared with the crop of 1871. The largest production of any one State was California—35,000,000 bushels. Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa respectively ranked next to California, ranging from 22,000,000 to 24,700,000 bushels. The total production in the Northwestern States named in 1872 was 92,298,000 bushels, an increase of 26,230,000 bushels over the crop of 1871 in the same States.

CAPTAIN JACK—What shall we do with him?

This Journal says of the salary grab that it has placed itself "squarely on the record against the measure and against every man who voted for it." Let it be recorded. But how does it stand on the men who took the money, without voting for the steal?

A new set of civil service rules were cooked up yesterday and presented to the President. "Improvements" are introduced, designed to make the service "more efficient" you know and all that sort of thing. Life is too short to waste time in considering these farcical performances, more like the vacillating play of school children than the actions of men.

Missouri ruffians are about the worst alive. We might hesitate between them and the scoundrels of Kentucky, but the balance would quiver a little towards the Missourians. A band of them on Tuesday night surrounded the jail at Wald, took it, set it open, and released a dozen prisoners, some of them notorious and dangerous villains. "How beautiful on the gallows are the feet" of such men.

It is reported that the cholera has broken out in Memphis, chiefly among the negroes, but of a mild type that yields readily to prompt treatment. Such an appearance after the passage of the epidemic, would suggest the possibility that the disease is domesticating itself here, and we may look for outbreaks every year when the hot weather puts all the evil influences of air and food and clothing to their hardest work.

The Czar of Russia is reported to be at Schonbrunn, a favorite palace of the Austrian Empress, and especially of Maria Theresa, very sick, so seriously sick in fact that the fetes of the Exposition opening have been postponed or countermanded. If he dies the company of European monarchs will lose the best man in it, both in brains and feeling. But the death of a Russian ruler affects national affairs less than the death of any other king, for the policy of the country is traditional, and pursued by generation after generation with one deviating fidelity. Another dispatch says he is not sick and attended a review the same day.

In the elections for School Commissioners soon to take place, some consideration should be paid to the construction of the Board. It is especially desirable, we think, that at least one physician should be a member. There are sanitary questions constantly arising in the management of children and the building of school houses, which no one but a thoroughly educated and experienced physician and surgeon is qualified to handle. The health of the young is a matter of the first importance; without a sound body there can not be a sound mind, and to attain the highest excellence both should be developed and trained. We should like therefore to see some one or more of our leading physicians on the Board—such men as Kitchen, Waterman, Cominger or Harvey. Their presence could not but be valuable.

Mr. Vienna Commissioner Van Buren has written a letter—we mean another letter, or it may be a third or fifth or doventh letter—denying all misconduct in himself and his assistants in disposing of the privileges of the American space in the Fair. He attributes the attacks upon him wholly to Mr. Jay, our Austrian Minister, and says that "neither the Minister nor any other man shall wrest from him with impunity the spotless reputation of a whole life." We wouldn't if we were in his place. We'd fight "till the last day in the morning" and show our teeth then, if old age had left any. It is right and necessary that a man should defend a "spotless reputation," but the wide difference of the imputations upon the Commissioner's honesty or acuteness, the credit accorded them by those most familiar with the Exposition, and spirit of vengeance rather than vindication that breathes in his letters, all combine to make his defense difficult.

Fires are epidemic, apparently. No sooner does Boston lead the way with a performance of a million dollar order, than the woods burst into a blaze, and cities go into conflagration in every direction. Yesterday there were large fires in Providence, N. J.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Rochester, N. Y.; Easton, Me., and nobody can remember how many smaller places. Fires, and the inability, with all our steam engines, and abundance of water, to check them, are the especial curse of this country, and visit it mainly as the consequence of hasty and defective building. Our folly "comes home to roost," and hatches such fires as the world has never seen except when exasperated armies turned incendiaries. Such conflagrations as the late one of Boston, though that was barely respectable, never occur in the solid, honestly built old cities of Europe. We must build with a close eye to safety and a little more indifference to profit, or we must invent some fire controller that science has as yet made no provision for. If we don't our cheap buildings will prove the costliest ever erected.

Science and Revelation.

A correspondent of the Terre Haute Express, in discussing certain questions raised by a recent sermon in that city as to the concurrence of revelation, justly interpreted, with science, peremptorily denies the possibility of reconciliation, and recommends the surrender of "Genesis" to the secular or scientific literature of the earlier Hebrews, as the "production of some Newton or Descartes" of that primitive era, that "the minister may no longer be compelled to cudgel his brains to reconcile the irreconcilable, and may go hand in hand with men of science." This is no new utterance. Forty years ago, or thirty, it would have startled the religious world, like another "Age of Reason." Less than thirty years ago it did startle the churches, in that first systematic exposition of the "development" theory both in the production of the solar system and of life, the "Vestiges of Creation," and in their amazement at its audacity they talked a great deal of nonsense. But now it has become familiar, and religion is beginning to ask if it wasn't "more scared than hurt," by a question as to the scientific accuracy of the Mosaic cosmogony and of Biblical accounts of natural phenomena. Thus it comes that there are three forms of opinion on the subject in Christendom. 1st. That which takes the Bible, as the Puritans did, as absolutely and infallibly right, by whatever force of reason and fact it may be resisted, or, as its adherents express it in the grand simplicity of Biblical language, "let God be true, but every man a liar." 2nd. That which can not reject the evidences of inspiration in the Bible, nor the evidences of the soundness of scientific deduction that conflicts with old Biblical interpretations, and therefore strives earnestly, plausibly, and successfully, too, to replace these refuted exegeses with others that science is not repelled by. Its adherents hold that revelation was made to man to teach him the existence, character and power of God and his own duty, and not to teach science. In fact the intellect of that age would have rejected revelation as impossible, if it had treated natural phenomena as they are treated now. Men knew too little to understand more than their eyes told them, and the Bible gave them its accounts of phenomena and their causes as an ignorant people would see them. It was not intended to enable the Levites to anticipate by three thousand years the discoveries of Copernicus and Kepler and Newton and Davy and Lyell, but to tell them the race what their duty was, and so long as incidental and wholly immaterial matter was presented in accordance with the notions of the age, and faith was not alarmed at what it had really no connection with, the object was accomplished. 3d. That form which rejects the Bible altogether, a school of scepticism diverging a little from German Rationalism. The Westminster Review of London heads this class, and among its champions such men as the late John Stuart Mill, Humboldt, Arago, Laplace, and it still numbers such men as Lyell, Agassiz, Huxley, Tyndall, Owen (not R. D.), the palaeontologist, and Sir John Lubbock, a formidable array of ability and learning.

The first class is rapidly diminishing, but there are not many intelligent and cultivated ministers who believe or teach the infallible accuracy of the Bible on matters outside of moral instruction. Most of them, like Hugh Miller, the ablest of them all, and Beecher ("longo intervallo") believe that changes of language have introduced a precision of signification into many words and passages which does not belong to them in the highly metaphorical style of a primitive people and an oriental people, too. We make definite what their language made vague. Our "day" and "night" and "evening" and "morning" do not convey the same idea that the Hebrew words thus translated conveyed three thousand years ago. Allowing for this change from indefiniteness to precision they see no difficulty in accepting the cosmogony of Genesis. Its periods of "days" correspond with singular accuracy with the periods of great geological changes, both in order and character. The Terre Haute writer does not concur in this opinion. He thinks "no unbiased person can read it and not be convinced that the writer intended it 'for a literal statement of what it conveyed to be facts.' True, but as the writer did not write in English, either of this day or the day of James I, and we can't be sure what this 'literal statement' means till we fully understand the force of the language in which he did write, the Terre Haute objection to the substitution of some longer period for a literal 'day' does not strike one very forcibly. There can be no reason why clearer statements, with better means of comparison and investigation than were possible to the Bishops who made our received translation, should not come nearer the meaning of this 'literal statement' than others have ever done. The great probability is that they have. The Bible must not be held responsible for the imperfect knowledge of translators, and the vagaries of a language like one that is constantly changing. Nobody can be stopped by the existing received translation, from further search and correction of our first imperfect attempts to find equivalents for Hebrew words and constructions, though the Terre Haute man thinks differently. Moreover, so far as history is concerned, the exhumed records of Nineveh and Babylon move right up to the support of the Bible like a veteran reserve behind a little disordered line of a veteran attacking force. The Biblical history of the neighbors of the Jews is also their own history. Between these confirmations, and explicable differences from scientific discoveries, there seems to be not only philological good sense, but Christian good sense, in ascertaining how much of the old notions of the creation were the effect of inadequate translation, and how much the effect of an attempt to tell the people no more of natural phenomena than their cultivation had prepared them to receive. Why tell the Jews three thousand years ago that the earth was millions of ages old, and moved round the sun with all the planets, when it did not at all concern the purpose of revelation, and when the weakness of humanity in trusting the senses against sense, could not have been less than now, and it is not twenty years since Cardinal O'Connell, of Ireland, declared that the sun was 'hardly more than six feet in diameter.' It would only make incredible all of the revelation that was of any value, or that was meant to be a revelation, to avoid inaccuracies that to all eyes and minds were absolute truths. The middle class will carry the intelligent moral sentiment of the world with it, sooner or later.

Coming Home. From woodland pasture, with its tints of grass And broken wall of stone, Through crooked bars and beaten track they pass, The cattle coming home.

Close at their heels the barefoot boy tramps on, Whistling a merry air, Catching the gleam of the setting sun In tangled, hairless hair; Breaking the daisies at his life hand, Crushing the clover red, Dipping his bare feet in the yielding sand, By jollying cattle led.

Led o'er the shady road beneath the pines, Across the village green, Where the old farm-house window redly shines, The maple boughs between. —Marie Le Baron.

He has all the summer before him to pick the thorns out of his knuckles.

The pickerel in Lake Neahawanta, a little lake situated near Oswego Fall, New York, are dying by thousands. The dead pickerel have floated ashore in such quantities that the shore is covered with them and the farmers in the vicinity are hauling off wagon loads for manure. No cause has been assigned for this singular mortality. The fish of other species in the lake are unaffected.

Mrs. Rosalba Underwood, daughter of the late Rembrandt Peale, has presented to the Mount Holly Association, of New Jersey, his painting of "Washington before Yorktown," valued at $10,000. The frame, which was made in Newark, from a black walnut tree which grew on the homestead of Robert Morris, the Revolutionary financier and bosom friend of Washington, is eighteen feet in circumference.

A Natural Curiosity.

An immense horse chestnut tree in New Haven, near the site of the first mint of the United States, is blooming on the south side this year. For the last twenty-nine years the blossoms have alternated between the north and south sides, every seventh year, however, appearing on both sides. It is a natural curiosity.

Starving Clergymen.

[London Cor. Chic. Journal.]

The Marquis of Lorne and his wife, Queen Victoria's daughter, have initiated another gigantic charity. They have ascertained that there are in England no less than 752 clergymen starving upon livings worth between £150 and £200; 1,354 with incomes between £100 and £150, and 1,585 with incomes of less than £100 per annum—altogether 5,221, whose incomes are less than £1,000, and who have to support their families and keep up the dignity of their position. These two distinguished personages propose to raise, by voluntary subscription, a permanent fund, the interest of which shall augment every one of these 5,221 livings to at least £200 per annum. It is a highly praiseworthy design, for most of these clergymen, educated men, unfitted for any other pursuit, are now actually suffering, with their families, under the mere pittance doled out to them by the Establishment. But it is altogether wrong that the purses of private individuals should be taxed to accomplish this great and good work, when the Establishment itself is literally rolling in riches, and every day adding to its capital by the rapid increase in value of its almost endless property. If the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, now almost if not quite as rich and powerful as the old East India Company in its palmiest days, would simply effect a redistribution of the incomes of church livings, there would be no necessity for this pitiful appeal to private charity. There are numerous clergymen luxuriating in incomes of £2,000 to £5,000, with comparatively little to do in their parishes, and this little done by curates, while they themselves enjoy life, in some instances on the Continent, while their immediate neighbors, with heavy parochial labors, are starving on paltry pittance of £100 to £200, and even these "thousand" are not exempt from taxation. Properly redistributed, there are funds enough at the command of the church to give every clergyman in charge of a parish an annual income of from £500 to £1,000, and as things are now the former sum is not too much for an educated man to bring up his family and keep up necessary social appearances. Of course the Princess and Marquis of Lorne will get what money they want, but it is disgraceful that they have to obtain it in the way they will.

Another Murder Out. Sumter, Ga., Republican.

It will be remembered by our readers that a man by the name Lee imprisoned on the charge of waylaying and murdering Capt. Fletcher, was killed in the jail at Dawson, Ga., some time ago, and it has remained a subject to the present time as to who committed the deed. The following postscript to a letter written from Dawson, dated the 25th ult., to a gentleman of this city, throws some light on the dark picture: "The report has just reached here that Jesse Gill is dead, and confessed on his death-bed that he and Dr. Lassiter were the perpetrators of the awful, and I may add the heinous crime of murdering Lee in the Dawson jail some time ago."

The Queen And Her Servants. [London Letter.]

Our beloved Queen is fond of setting admirable examples for the imitation of her faithful subjects. Here is her latest effort in this respect. A like every body else affected by the present and prospective high prices of the necessities of life, recently petitioned her majesty for an advance of sixpence a day in her wages, those wages being now exactly half a dollar a day. The Queen simply and manly refused the request, her instructions, to her steward, who instantly discharged seven of the men, and cautioned the others that a repetition of their heinous offense would be the signal for their dismissal also.

NEW YORK STORE,

JUNE 4.

We invite attention to our large and complete stock of Llama Lace Points, and Satin Striped Black Grenadines, which we are now offering at attractive prices. We open this day a large variety of Braided Linen Suits in entirely new styles, and at low prices for goods of the quality. Ladies' White Muslin Waists in great variety just opened.

Yankee Lunch House in London. Mr. W. B. Burrows, late of the Everett House and Maison Doree, Boston, has opened an American restaurant in London, which is called the New York, and is situated at 218 High Holborn. Says the Cosmopolitan: The menu makes a Yankee's mouth water: codfish balls, pork and beans, buckwheat cakes, oysters, "any how," claret chowder, pumpkin pie, canvas backs, corn bread, hominy, succotash, baked shad, tongues and sounds, etc., etc., etc., we could catalogue of "drinks" too numerous to mention.

Who Holds Grant Parish. New Orleans Republican.

The impression that the Democrats are still in possession of Grant Parish is false. The Republicans hold all the offices, have held a term of court and enforced every mandate. Shaw, the Sheriff, did not resign, but holds on. He says he signed that statement to save his life, as he was surrounded in the pine woods by men who threatened to hang him if he refused to do so. This is the way the fusionists manufacture evidence.

The Square Thing. A church in Iowa neglected to pay its pastor's salary. Not relishing this, he brought his action and got a judgment. This was thought to be a proceeding demanding a council of investigation, and that tribunal arrived at four findings, viz: That the church did wrong in failing to pay the pastor his salary; that the pastor did wrong in suing the church; that the church should apologize to the pastor; and that the pastor should apologize to the church.

Objecting to the Costume. The new opera of "Adam and Eve," it is thought, will be given up, the only manager who has yet attempted to produce it having had a difficulty with the prima donna in the matter of costume. The lady declines to take the character of "Eve" unless allowed to appear in a yellow satin train and a diamond necklace. Adam, also, exhibits a marked preference for a velvet tunic and a rapier.

The Fashionable Hat. N. Y. Fashion Letter.

Lastly, the hat—but that is too momentous a question for the close of a letter, will summarize. Wear any shape you please, in any fabric you please, and trim as you please. You may wear a flower-bed or a lace dealer's stock, only use a small frame with prodigious trimmings, and let it cost enough.

Personal.

The bill poster John Edwards is not dead as reported.

Governor Hendricks has gone to attend the Chicago jubilee.

Colonel J. H. Farquhar has purchased the residence of James A. Seaton, on Broadway street, near the University, for $16,200.

Dr. Everts, Superintendent of the Insane Hospital, returned yesterday from the East. He has been attending the annual convention of Superintendents which met in Baltimore.

S. F. Horrall, editor Washington (Indiana) Gazette, is in the city to interest business men in building a road from Washington to Edwardsport, so as to connect with the Vincennes, and give Indianapolis access to the rich coal fields of that county.

Miss M. F. Burlingame, the brilliant editor of the Home Magazine, was last evening married to W. F. Adkinson; the ceremony being performed at Rev. S. B. Falkenberg's residence by Rev. Dr.

MINOR MENTION.

The State Board of Equalization will meet on the 16th instant.

Wheat has declined fifteen cents on the bushel within the past week.

The people on South Meridian street are calling loudly for drinking fountains.

The hearing of the Strain habeas corpus case has been postponed until to-morrow.

The Chicago Republic insurance cases were decided yesterday in favor of the company.

The County Treasurers of Newton and Owen yesterday drew their share of the school fund.

The ladies in charge of the Orphans' Home will give a musical and social entertainment to-morrow evening, at Bradshaw's Hall.

The special committee on Parks, it is thought, will report against the purchase of any grounds for such purposes at present.

A gang of horse thieves are at work on the National Road, and five horses were stolen Tuesday night, between this city and Irvington.

Yesterday afternoon a derrick in front of Claypool's block slipped from its fastenings and fell to the ground, fortunately injuring no one.

A little two year old son of Mr. George T.
Evans met with a severe accident Tuesday evening by falling upon a pair of scissors, which entered his eye.

Yesterday a farmer residing near New Britain, started to the city with 1,800 pounds of wool, but on arriving here found it to be 250 pounds short. He is satisfied that some thief had stolen his wool while on his way to the city. In consequence great cry and little wool.

Death of Engineer Howe.
Engine 14, William Howe at the throttle, and drawing a heavy freight train on the C. & I., yesterday struck some cattle near Julietta Station, below Connersville, and was thrown from the track, several cars following. The engineer and fireman both jumped, and the first was caught by a car loaded with logs and his head and shoulders crushed so frightfully that he died a few hours afterwards. Robert Wilborn, the fireman, was considerably injured, so, too, one of the brakemen. Mr. Howe lived on Noble street, and leaves a wife and child to mourn his untimely ending. The remains were returned to this city last evening, and will be buried to-morrow.

An Interesting Relic.
While Charles Terrell, Paymaster United States Army, and brother of General Buck Terrell, was on duty in Texas, he forwarded to the last named an Indian bow, quiver and arrows, taken from the body of the young chief Santa, who was killed while on a marauding expedition over into Texas, by the United States troops. The father of this young chief is now serving a lifetime sentence in a Texas penitentiary on account of his many atrocities. The bow of this collection is made of two kinds of Rio Grande wood, and is stiff and strong. The quiver is a Mexican lion skin, ornamented with beads, and the arrows are long, feathered, and with steel barbs. The present possessor will turn the collection over to the State Library, as part of the museum.

Pension Agency Notes.
General Terrell, United States Pension Agent, is now busy with the June payments to pensioners, and for the past two days the agency has been besieged with invalids wanting quarterly stamps. During May General Terrell disbursed $54,000.

The biennial medical examination of pensioners takes place in September.

Yesterday a soldier's widow individually presented a certificate granted a year or two ago by the Commissioner of Pensions, upon which she has been repeatedly paid; but since the last payment it appears that the widow re-married (or thought she did) which act under the law stops her pension allowance. But it also appears that her last husband at the time of his marriage with the widow, was already the husband of one or more living females; in plain words, he was a bigamist, Mormon, free-lover and heart wrecker generally; and when the deceived woman, his last victim, discovered his perfidy she turned him adrift, and is said to have obtained some sort of an order or decree from the court, not exactly a divorce, annulling the so-called or pretended marriage. General Terrell refused to pay the applicant her pension until a full statement of the case was presented in writing, with copies of any judicial proceedings which may have been had.

SACRED OPERA AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Oratorio of the Messiah.

The Choral Union, assisted by the Philharmonic Society, produced Handel's sublime oratorio to an appreciative audience at the Baptist Church last night. The music is of the most difficult nature and its competent rendering demands unusual gift of voice and severe protracted training in leading parts and chorus. The first was in a measure wanting, for while there were a large number of very fine voices, and some which challenged and received the admiration of the audience, any one that could do full justice to the work of the master did not conspicuously appear. Mr. Loomis's first tenor solo came as near the point as any,
and charmed while it surprised the audience, who giving him credit for knowledge and fair execution, did not expect the clear, strong, sustained notes his voice developed.

Mr. Smock and Mr. Bernard had the most difficult parts of the evening, requiring more natural gifts than fall to the lot of many men. If they could do full justice to the score they should take the operatic stage at once—which Heaven avert. They both did remarkably well, and in some passages exceeded expectations, and won flattering applause. Mr. Sharpe's solo came late when the audience had almost reached a surfeit of music and heat, but was nevertheless warmly and appreciatively applauded. Mrs. Smock's alto solo, so charmingly and feelingly rendered, was not excelled during the evening.

Few professionals could have given it better.
Mrs. Spades' solo, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," considering that the greatest singers of the time have essayed to interpret its melody, was a pleasing success. Mrs.
Paulini sang with spirit and expression.
Miss Danforth wavered a little in the beginning of her solo, but redeemed that trifling fault in her after performance. Mrs.
Lynn used her fine voice admirably, while Misses Nutting, Wheatley and Willard sang very sweetly. Mrs. Heywood was unfortunately suffering from an acute attack of laryngitis and could not appear, but her part was obligingly taken by Miss Spades.

But the crowning success of the evening was in the choruses—particularly in that wonderful inspiration the Hallelujah Chorus.
We do not believe that the same number of voices ever performed it better. It was the grand climax which dwarfed everything that came after it. Even the Amen Chorus, which closes the Oratorio, seemed insufficient. The only fault of the chorus was a little indecision of attack in some parts, and a little excess of soprano voices. But the voices had such a freshness and freedom, such a wealth of melody, and such an intimate sympathy with the theme, that they were far superior to the worn chorusses usually heard in opera. Their excellent drill is the result of the hard work they have undergone night after night for the past six months, and the faithfulness with which Professor Black, the best drill master in the West, has performed his part.

The Philharmonic Orchestra did admirably, and needed only a little more rehearsal with the singers to make their performance nearly perfect. Mr. Reed used the Weber Grand with great skill and discretion.

So the Oratorio of the Messiah, the grandest and most difficult of all sacred music, was successfully performed by the Choral Union.

THE EPISCOPALIANS.

Missionary Meeting Last Evening—Re- port of Treasurer—Addresses, etc.

The annual meeting of the Diocesan Missionary Society, at St. Paul's, last night, was of more than ordinary interest. The missionary service was conducted by Rev. E. A.
Bradley, and the chancel was occupied by Bishop Talbot, of this Diocese, Rt. Rev. J. L.
Auer, the newly consecrated Missionary Bishop of Africa, and Rev. C. N. Chamber, of the New York Board of Domestic Missions.

Mr. W. H. Morrison, Treasurer, submitted his annual report, showing the following: Amount received for General Diocesan Fund.....$6,346.19
For Diocesan Mission Fund.....1,830.84 For Episcopal and Supernumerary Missionary Fund.....23.25 For Permanent Episcopal Fund.....20.12

Total amount received during year.....$8,220.30

The following are the balances in the Treasurer's hands:

Unexpended and Supernumerary Ministers.....$ 210.95 Permanent Episcopal Fund.....452.22 Diocesan Missionary Fund.....361.63

General Diocesan Fund debtor to Treasurer.....11.41

Total amount in hand from all sources.....$10,143.49

Comparative view of receipts for the past two years:

On account general Diocesan fund 1917.....$4,503.46 1916.....6,346.19

Increase the last year.....$1,843.73

On account Diocesan Missionary Fund.....$1,830.84 1917.....1,830.84

On account Episcopal Missionary Fund.....23.25 1916.....20.12

Increase the last year.....$ 3.13

On account Permanent Episcopal Fund.....$ 20.12 1917.....20.12

Increase the last year.....$ 0.00

Mr. Morrison followed this tabular statement with a short review of the missionary work in the State, in which it was shown there are sixty towns and fifty-eight counties in the State where the church is not established. He suggested a plan for utilizing these vacant fields, the leading feature of which was the union of the clergy and the laity in every parish for mission work, and the frequent holding of missionary meetings.

Rev. C. N. Chambers followed the Treasurer, taking for his subject, "What are the needed helps in our mission work, and what are its hindrances," and the meeting was ended by an address from Bishop Auer, giving as it were the result of his observations during four years service as a missionary in Africa.

He'er a Come Down.

Mr. Hanna visited the office of The News yesterday to ascertain the meaning of the phrase "Hanna come down." That is the very knowledge The News pines for—just what we want to know. Mr. Hanna thinks there is an insinuation in it that he "came down with the dust" to secure a contract.
To an unenlightened mind such a construction is not in the least strained. But Mr.
Hanna declares in rather forcible English that he never did and never will "come down" in any such sense. That leaves the question between him and the Council Committee who declare in a solemn written report now on file, to be seen and read of all men that "Hanna having come down" the contract is awarded.
We prefer to credit Mr. Hanna's statement, rather than the Committee's report, but future generations, who may not know the manner of man Mr. Hanna is, when they read in the then musty record of the city, that "Hanna came down," will certainly think that he paid the committee a nice little douceur, and "this is his receipt for the same." It is therefore against the committee who made the transaction a matter of record, and not The News, which merely gave the record to its readers, that Mr. Hanna's cause of grievance lies. He should demand the expurgation of the offensive phrase and insist that the members use doubtful terms more cautiously hereafter.

A Dangerous Precedent.

To the Editor of The Evening News:

Had the Supreme Court labored for years to concoct a scheme by which the ends of justice could be subverted, it could not have succeeded better than it did in the celebrated Earl contempt case.

The idea that a man fully purges himself by his own oath is monstrous. Suppose a bailiff approaches a juror in the interest of one of the litigants in a suit and is informed upon by the juror, he fully excites himself by his own oath, and is allowed to go scot free, although a plain case, or many cases as to that, could be easily proven. 'Tis true the court has power to remove, but then the public, saying nothing of the parties to the suit, are probably compensated—where the bailiff whose pockets are lined with gold—the result of bribery, only makes room for another suppliant tool who is willing to do the bribing of men who adopt Oakes Ames motto, "put your money where it will do the most good." "Stereotyped" jurymen who only wish to know the mind of the officer will

"Bend the supple hinges of the knee, That thrift may follow fawning, And thus assassinate justice in her own temples."

We repeat, it is monstrous. It places every court in the State at the mercy of corrupt souls. It deals a fatal blow at our boasted judiciary, and should be frowned down by public clamor.

If this decision is not reversed, we advise a general tossing of coppers, rather than expensive legislation. We advise that the immense blocks for our new Court House be converted into tombstones to the memory of crucified liberty and law.

AMOS KEETER.

A Howl from a Carriage Owner.

To the Editor of The Evening News:

Judging from an item which appeared in The News a day or two ago, you would like to see a law prohibiting citizens from driving a carriage, or riding a backpack in our beautiful Military Park. This, it seems to me, and I say it candidly, is rather small business. Simply because I happen to own a horse and buggy, and the streets are unfortunately dusty, I must, to keep from annoying you and some other persons who have delicate organizations, drive on particular streets in the city, or keep my rig at home.

You intimate in a spirit that panders to prejudice that parties who do drive inside the park do so just to show the world that they have a carriage. Now I have been trying for fifteen years to save enough to buy a buggy and horse, and have only just succeeded, and I immensely enjoy riding out evenings with my wife and children. I don't blow off any steam, because the whole thing only cost three hundred dollars, and I don't consider it a very high-toned affair in any respect. I live a long distance from the park, and have so little time to spare I must either go in the buggy or not at all, and I should like to show the world my little ones of the pleasure they have in seeing the fishes in the lake, and the fountains, and the people congregated as they are there Sundays and evenings.

There are carriage roads in the Park; there are gates to admit vehicles, and I believe that carriages within the enclosure add something to the general pleasant appearance of our city breathing place, and I do not believe that pedestrians, as a rule, entertain such feelings as you have given expression to in The News. If the roadways are dusty, let them be sprayed with water. If one wishes to pay something to have that done, if there are some select pedestrians who don't like to see buggies and other vehicles in the Park, they might choose some less objectionable place for their perambulations. This is a tolerably free country, you know, and whatever privileges are accorded to carriages, citizens should be, if it can be done with propriety, accorded to another. Allow me to say further that when a paper like The News throws out a broad hint, like that in the item referred to, it is in many respects on the level of an arbitrary government rule that is to say the least unjust. SANXY.

A MYSTERIOUS TRANSACTION.

A Well Known Citizen Dangerously Wounded While Befriending His Employee.

The city was electrified this forenoon by the report which flew from ear to ear with remarkable rapidity that Andrew W. McQuatt, a well known resident on the corner of East and New York streets, had been assassinated near his home by unknown parties, and the report was so exaggerated that each successive recital that the majority of people firmly believed in his death. McQuatt is still living, although in a precarious condition, and owing to his exhausted state it is impossible to obtain sufficient particulars, but The News reporter after infinite trouble has gleaned the following, which will be seen does not warrant the assassination rumor.

Smith Johnson, a colored employee of Mr. McQuatt, returned home about eleven o'clock last night and wanted his employer's pistol, stating that several fellows had attacked and abused him, and threatened further violence. Mr. McQuatt gave him a single-barreled weapon loaded with shot, and arose from his bed, dressed and went with him, for what purpose is not clearly apparent, but more likely to see that Smith had fair play. At the corner of Lockerie and Liberty streets a man was met whom Johnson claimed to have been one of the party that attacked him, and after a quarrelsome discussion one of the party was heard to say, "You son of a—," following it with a blow. Smith attempted to use his pistol, and McQuatt in attempting to prevent him from killing his antagonist, caught the weapon in his hand and received its entire contents in his head and neck, the lead striking just behind the right ear. Several ladies living near the scene of the rencontre, and who were attracted to their windows by the noise, state that immediately after the firing one of the party ran rapidly up Liberty street, and that Mr. McQuatt fell heavily upon the crossing, where he lay a moment and then was assisted to his feet and started homeward. At the first alley beyond East some one yelled "murder" several times with a very loud voice, but the report of the pistol and the shouts of the injured man failed to attract the attention of the police.

The blood upon the plank crossing proved Mr. McQuatt to have been hard hit, and after return home and by the time Drs. Todd and "Wands" reached his bedside, he was very much exhausted from the waste of blood, and at present writing is without doubt in a precarious condition, although the surgeons think he will pull through in safety if erysipelas does not set in. Their examination disclosed twenty-nine shot lodged in and around the base of the skull, and it is feared that some of the wadding of the pistol may have lodged within the flesh. The fact that Mr. McQuatt is a fleshy gentleman prevented, no doubt, penetration to the brain; but had the lead been a bullet instead of bird shot his death would have been instantaneous.

About eleven o'clock this forenoon a reporter of The News paid a visit to the family residence and found him resting quietly, but excessively weak from the terrible shock his system had received, and unable, of course, to give a version of the unfortunate transaction as it really occurred. A short interview was had with the colored employee who seems to have caused this mischief, but he was not sufficiently clear to make much out of his statement. First, some fifteen men attacked him and Mr. McQuatt went to his assistance; then he came after his employer, and when the two found the party he was struck, and in attempting to draw his pistol it went off, bursting in the discharge, hurting his hand and lodging the contents as above described. By to-morrow it is probable the real facts be ascertained; from the present outlook the above extended report is very near the correct thing.

DIOCESAN CONVENTION.

Second Day's Proceedings.

The convention re-assembled this morning at 9 o'clock.

The minutes of yesterday's proceedings were read and approved.

The thanks of the convention were tendered to the Missionary Bishop of Africa for the interesting and comprehensive explanation of the missionary work of this church in Africa, last evening.

The Committee on Credentials submitted their report announcing the names of persons entitled to seats in this convention.

Phelps, G. W. Morrison, W. H. Bishop, E. J. Taylor, Harry Growth, Samuel Jewett, F. H. Austin, L. G. Williams, J. S. Brown, Jas. Stearns, L. B. Winter, Geo. Mayo, C. Truesdale, Harvey Laning, Dr. S. Tanguay, S. H. McDonald, A. L. Sedgwick, James Stapp, D. W. Haight, E. Shaw, T. G. Niles, O. T. Russell, C. B. Campbell, R. O. Cannon, N. E. Newland, Elijah Fiske, A. C. Cushman, J. C. Thomson, A. I. Dudley, W. W. Mills, Jas. E. Parke, Jos. Bond, J. J.

The following action in reference to the death of the Senior Bishop of the Diocese, was reported by the Standing Committee.

Whereas, Since our last meeting the Right Rev. George Upfold, D. D., LL. D., for twenty-three years the Bishop of this Diocese, has departed this life, and entered, as we humbly trust and believe, upon the rest of "Those who depart hence in the Lord."

Therefore, resolved, That the earnest zeal and unwearied diligence of our late Bishop, in the prosecution of his work under the pressure of severe affliction, going back for many years, excites our admiration of his service and self-sacrificing devotion to duty, call for our grateful and affectionate acknowledgment now that he has gone from among us.

Resolved, That we recognize and are thankful for that grace of God, manifested in our late Bishop's long affectionate enabling him to bear with Christian fortitude and resignation, suffering very unusual in degree, and in duration, and that we rejoice to believe that at length delivered from suffering, he rests with Christ.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent by the Secretary to the family of the late Bishop with the assurance of our sympathy and prayers, in the time of trouble.

Bishop Talbot then read his annual address before the convention, of which the following is a short synopsis:

The Bishop, by referring to the death of the late Bishop Upfold of this diocese, the Right Rev. Manton Eastburn, Bishop of Massachusetts, and Bishop McIlvaine, of

"HATTERS OF THE PERIOD," GRIFFITH BLOCK.

Ohio, all of whom have died since the last meeting of this convention.

The following was a summary of the chief official acts for the past year:

Baptisms, adult, 3 Infant, 12 Confirmations, 20 Holy Communion celebrated in public, times, 20 private, 5 Sermons and addresses, 11 Marriages, 11 Funerals, 16 Lay Readers licensed, 8 Ordinations—Deacons, 1 Priests, 1 Bishops instituted, 2

I have given my canonical consent to the consecration of the Rev. John Gottlieb Auer as missionary Bishop of Cape Palmas, Africa, and Rev. Wm. Hobart Hare, D. D., as missionary Bishop of Niobrara.

Have received canonical notice of the deposition of the following persons from the Sacred Ministry: Wm. Maurice Salt, Deacon, Western New York, James Kent Stone, Presbyter, Western New York, Jessie A. Pennington, Presbyter, New Jersey, and have myself deposed upon renunciation William Wallace Hibben, Deacon of this diocese.

The diocese never was so prosperous or gave such manifest tokens of the blessing of God upon our united labors. There are now five parishes in Indianapolis, where there were but two when I came to be your Bishop.

The Bishop recommended the incorporation of a Board of Trustees of Funds and Property, to hold in trust the church property.

The results of our Diocesan organization, it seems to me, ought to encourage and cheer our people in their gifts and prayers for this great end.

We need a medium of communication between the Bishop and the parishes, for the parishes themselves and for the spread of Diocesan information among our own people and with that object in view a small Diocesan paper will be issued, at first semi-monthly, to go into the hands, if possible, of every church family and every churchman in the Diocese.

The Committee to whom the consideration of the pledge system was referred, would respectfully report, that after giving due consideration to the subject and obtaining information as to its working in other dioceses where it has been tested, they would unanimously recommend its adoption by this convention as a means of invigorating our Diocesan Missionary work and providing the money requisite for carrying it on. This report was referred to the Committee on Canons.

Bishop Talbot announced that a reception would be given to the members at his residence this evening, to which all were cordially invited.

On motion of Dr. Wakefield it was resolved, that so much of the Bishops address as referred to a provision for the remaining years of the widow of our late beloved Bishop, be referred to a committee of five.

Resolved, That so much of the Bishop's address as refers to the death of our late beloved Bishop, be referred to a special committee of two clergymen and two laymen. Rev. Dr. Wakefield, Rev. W. H. Roberts, W. H. Morrison, Geo. C. Day and Joseph J. Bingham, were appointed the committee under the first resolution, and Revs. Dr. Wakefield and George C. Day, John Love and W. W. Dudley, the committee under the second resolution.

That the matter of the sale of the Pennsylvania street property was referred to the following committee of five: Rev. Wm. Richmond, Rev. Dr. Franklin, Colonel J. S. Williams, A. H. Morrison and John C. Day. Mr. Gierlow offered the following resolution which was adopted:

That it is expedient to the successful prosecution of convocation work that this convention give the subject such consideration as shall tend to increase its sympathy and co-operation.

That the Committee on accounts was accepted after which the Convention adjourned until 2 1/2 o'clock this afternoon.

Distinguished Visitors.

A special car containing a number of the prominent citizens of Columbus, Ohio, including members of the City Council, Civil Engineer and representatives of the press, arrived in the city at 7:30 this morning over the Bee Line. The object of their visit is to inspect our new tunnel and bridge, with a view of deciding upon which to adopt in their city. They are stopping at the Bates House and will return at six o'clock this evening.

The following persons comprise the party: Charles W. Wolcott, Isaac B. Pott, Fred. Jones, M. J. Drach, J. H. Davidson, C. Brey, John Walsh, W. Williams, E. Hintman, John Graben, T. W. Gulick, Martin Keely, D. H. Royse, R. C. Hull, James Pletsch, S. B. Porter, Chris. Kemmerle, John N. Runkenbacher, C. C. Smith, E. A. Kerr, I. S. Beckey, S. E. Johnson, E. G. Crebaugh, A. A. Andrews, George E. Hauer, P. H. Hannan and Chas. H. Beeler.

As our citizens were not aware of the intended visit of this party, no formal reception was tendered them. They spent the day in company with several of our Councilmen and express a decided preference for the tunnel.

BURGLARIES.

Charley Dennis and E. C. Hill the Latest Victims.

Last night the drug store belonging to Charley Dennis and E. C. Hill's shoe store, both located in Martindale's Block, were entered by burglars. In the drug store the thieves were content with going through the money drawer, securing some $6 or $7, but they ransacked the shoe establishment more thoroughly, abstracting a few goods as well as $10 which had been left in the drawer.

Just before closing last night, Mr. Hill took twenty $1 bills from the drawer and threw them in a box on a shelf, and these were overlooked by the intruders. The entrance to both stores was made from the rear, and the marks on the window and door show the work of semi-professionals. A bran new chisel, with which they operated on the window, was left in Hill's store, and this may give a clue for the police to work upon.

Mick Baco made a sale this morning for J. Cooper of fifteen acres east of the city to Messrs. T. A. Lewis, Shively & King, which required the execution of no less than six hundred different instruments. The consideration was $60,000.
